

High Consequence Work/Services at EPCOR

EPCOR's Contractor Registry Provider

EPCOR's contractor prequalification process helps us manage the health, safety and environmental impacts of our business for our employees, customers, contractors, vendors and the communities in which we work.

To support this, EPCOR has established a business relationship with ISNetwork ("ISN") to further enhance our contractor management program and to help manage the safety prequalification requirements of contractors and vendors who may perform high-risk work. ISN is a centralized online contractor registration and prequalification system for many industries across the globe. ISN will not only help you efficiently gather the information required to maintain your qualified status, it will also help you enhance your own HSE programs, and market your company for potential business opportunities with other like-minded companies.

ISN provides a dedicated customer service team who will educate and support you to efficiently gather the information and documents required to determine and maintain your qualified status.
